Whether hitting the road, hitting the friendly skies, or just trying to keep your kids from hitting each other, having a checklist when you travel will help take the thinking out of it, which is good because your mind is going 100 different directions. My advice when you travel is keep it simple, keep it in perspective, and just try to keep it together:

Important documents

- ID/Passports/Birth certificates:
Did you pack all travel documents?
- Tickets: Did you download needed tickets/parking?

Safety checks

- Keys: Did you lock the door?
Close the garage?
- Oven/Stove/Appliances: Are all heating sources off? Fridge closed? No water running?

Baby Essentials

- Diapers/Pull ups: Depending on the season your kids/you are in
- Extra clothes
- Car seat

Accessories

- Phone charger
- Tablets/kids entertainment
- Toys

Clean-up supplies

- Gallon zip lock
- Trash bags
- Baby wipes
- Paper towels

Snacks and water bottles

Your Kids!

No, please, I know you may want to leave them, but make sure you have them!
